Hi depedpines.com

Team,

I hope you are doing well.

Impressing online visitors and convince them to buy your products/services should be the main motive, for this a website should be well maintained and have proper online appearance. We assure the methods for reaching out on top of search engines will be the latest guideline from Google, this will multiply visitors and will lead to higher return on investment.

Due to technical glitches and lack of expert suggestion, I can see your promotion efforts are going in a wrong direction and may lead to penalizing your website.

Here are some key points where your website needs immediate improvement:

- Your site is struggling to get indexed on Google because of technical issues present.
- For many competitive and related keywords your website is not ranking.
- Content based link is the key to get genuine ranking as you still rely on old link generation methods.
- Social Media effort to build brand as well as reputation is entirely missing.
