It is an inspirational movie (values based) which advocates against vices and promotes good moral character and good moral values for students, teachers, and families.

KAIBIGAN introduces Jesse and Christian Perkins (The Perkins Twins) as two high school students who clash with one another because of their different lifestyles and values – a tragic event transforms their rivalry into a bond and they discover the true meaning of friendship and restoration that follows. The film is surrounded by an award winning and all-star cast including Tirso Cruz, Jean Garcia, Boots Anson-Roa and even Hollywood actor Stephen Baldwin. The film tackles the issues and consequences of Drugs, Smoking, Alcohol, Bullying, and Early or Teenage Pregnancy while promoting Love, Friendship, Respect, Family Values, Restoration, Kindness, Forgiveness, Child Protection, and Good Will; with an overarching theme of "Doing good things in life".

For the past three years, The Perkins Twins have been working hand in hand with Dep Ed Central, Regional, and Divisional Offices, where they share their advocacies of Anti-Drugs, Anti-Smoking, Anti-Alcohol, and Anti-Bullying across the nation on their Perkinspired Tour. Their tour was/is 100% FREE and is intended for the good and benefit of the students. The Perkins Twins have visited over 900 schools (Public and Private) nationwide with overwhelming success, touching the lives of the students, the teachers and the administrators spanning all socio-economic backgrounds. This movie will expand on these causes as the twins spread increased awareness of their advocacies to more students, parents, relatives, etc. - inspiring the students to do good, and to stay away from wrong choices. The Perkins Twins are also working with government officials across the Nation who are supporting the same advocacies. We are also supported and endorsed by the Dangerous Drugs Board, the PNP, and have the support of President Duterte himself.

We look forward to our shared and common goals of the Department of Education to enrich, encourage and inspire the youth of the Philippines - we believe that this project provides an amazing opportunity to do so. We look forward to a favorable response, and please feel free to contact us if you have any questions. May God bless you. And thank you for the opportunity to work with you and your team, to inspire the youth of the Philippines to do what is right; to refrain from worldly vices.

Background of the Perkins Twins:

The Perkins Twins are President Bush and President Obama awardees. Both boys received full scholarships for athletics and academics to the University of California at Berkeley. They were featured as the youngest Fil-Am difference makers on ABS TFC Filipino Champions, and GMA Power Ng Pinoy. They were born in the Philippines and raised in California before returning three (3) years ago to open a Tennis Academy and a coffee shop with our family, in addition to signing recording contracts. Neither of the twins ever took drugs, smoked nor had girlfriends since birth. We have a strong faith.

Looking forward to a favorable response and also to meet you soon! God bless you and your team.

Sincerely,

The Perkins Family

Kaibigan Synopsis

Kaibigan revolves around 2 students in high school - Jake and David. The two boys compete and are rivals in sports and student life as they clash over values and cultures.

David Santos is in his last year of high school. He is a good boy. He does all the right things. He studies hard, is gifted musically, is the star of the basketball team and a leader of the school; popular with students and teachers. He does all the right things, has a strong faith, and is a good student. He comes from a good solid family structure, with strong moral and family values. Although not perfect, he strives to do what is right and shows love to those around him. He finds success and peace in all that he does because of his good character and exemplifies the positive effects of doing good. However he struggles to deal with his overprotective and lecturing father, who although has good intentions is often overbearing.

Everything is going well for David as he prepares for his final year before graduation – that is until Jake, a “worldly” Fil Am student from a rival school, along with Jake’s friends challenge David on everything he stands for on the basketball court and on the streets of Manila.

Jake comes from a troubled background. He smokes, he drinks, and he bullies. Jake is what the world might call “normal” and is also popular. He finds himself around bad friends who are into drugs and vices who influence him for the worse. But he is conflicted - he doesn’t want to do it, but wants to be cool, fit in, and escape from life’s problems, especially his dysfunctional family. He provides a realistic example of the negative effects of wrong choices.

Ultimately the wrong choices by Jake catch up with him as he suffers a terrible accident with his friends, that leaves him badly injured. Ironically it is David that finds Jake and brings them to the hospital. During the transfer to the hospital, Jake hears and sees things that David does, that impact him as he faces a life and death struggle in the hospital from the injuries.

Jake remains temporarily injured after leaving the hospital and can no longer do the things he could before. As he physically heals, his life begins to fall apart - his friends leave him, his girlfriend leaves him, and he becomes depressed. Jake is now even cyber-bullied as his old friends mock him. He is expelled from his private school (he was under the influence at the time of his accident, and a result of his behavior) and transfers to the same school where David is attending to be closer to his home as he recuperates. He is in a very low place, but finds unlikely comfort and friendship from David, and also through the guidance of his teachers from his new school. Despite his circumstance, they show brotherly love and compassion.

The two begin a new journey of friendship. Together they face life’s struggles, and through it all they learn to deal with their family properly and face the many challenges of high school life the right way. The two become close as they discover similar passions and goals in life. It is through their journey that they and even those around them, will discover redemption, forgiveness, restoration, reconciliation and true friendship. As this friendship evolves, their resolve will be tested as David tries his best to influence Jake, and Jake tries to change his life for the better...
