INSTRUCTIONAL DESIGN

PROGRAM TITLE: INTERNATIONAL TRAINING ON DIGITAL WORKPLACE LEADERSHIP
An Online Training Course for Non-Teaching Personnel in an Educational Organization

PROGRAM DESCRIPTION:

The speed and scope of the current pandemic crisis poses extra challenges for education and necessitates good leadership more than ever (Brammer & Clark, 2020). The role of education leaders includes leadership authority and power, manager or officers, or may be loosely defined, such as a team leader who may not have an official authority but has responsibilities in the educational realm (Day & Sammons, 2016). And it should be made clear that the role of educational leadership is not only exclusive to school heads and teachers with academic positions. It also includes those that are involved in various areas of operation of the whole educational organization such as human resource and training, planning, budget and finance, procurement, guidance and counseling, health, maintenance, education support and others. Thus, this online training series is proposed to provide equal professional development opportunities to the non-teaching personnel of the Department of Education (DepEd). And pursuant to the agreement made by DepEd Management and DepEd- National Employees' Union (DepEd- NEU), DepEd's Non-Teaching personnel have been allowed to participate in activities to improve their skills...(May, 2018). Further, both parties agreed to have such activities on official business (Alidon, 2018).

The training is a three- day self- paced program that offers a practical, personalized learning approach, backed up by theory and research. Participants will be exposed with technology, digital tools and methodologies of Digital Leadership to sharpen up their digital leadership capabilities to understand how to capitalize on their strengths and improve their weaknesses. They will get a well-rounded understanding of leading in a digital age to pair their experience with leading digital educational organizations. The participants will also get the chance to learn thinking tools needed to become creative leaders. They will also be exposed to various types of teams and gain knowledge on the best practices of managing them. The program also offers valuable insights on how to manage relationships within the organization. Realizing that taking leadership roles is a heavy task, the Southeast Asian Institute of Educational Training, Inc. includes stress management and resilience as an integral part of this program. In this final part of the training program, the participants are expected to be introduced to concepts surrounding resilience and stress response.
