Dear OPC Cities,

As mentioned during our September 28 workshop, one of the OPC activities that we have this year is to increase public awareness, specifically the academe sector, on the role of cities and its citizens in the transition towards sustainable urban development and low-carbon future.

On October 8 at 3-5PM, WWF-Philippines will hold a virtual forum on Climate Change and Education for Sustainable Development (ESD) for high school teachers, students and DepEd non-teaching staff entitled: "Education for Transformation: Empowering the academe sector towards sustainability and low-carbon development" via Zoom and will also be streamed live in OPC Facebook Page. This online activity is also in celebration with 2021 World Habitat Day.

In line with this, may we kindly request you to share/forward this invitation to your local DepEd offices as well as other related academe sector within your contacts that you think would also be interested. Attached is the concept note for reference but for your quick reference, please find below details on how to register and participate:

Registration Form (students are highly requested to register for their Safeguarding Consent): bit.ly/OPCforCCESD

Zoom Details: Webinar ID - 921 9826 5084; Password - 145943

Facebook: Watch via FB Live by joining the official FB Group - "One Planet Cities PH-Educ Corner"

If you have any questions, please don't hesitate to communicate with us.

Many thanks,

---
