Regional Director

CAR, Department of Education

Dear Ma'am Carino:

Greetings! I hope you are doing well despite the pandemic.

The University of Santo Tomas Graduate School and the Research Center for Social Sciences and Education are pleased to invite you and the teachers in your divisions to the 2nd International Conference on Gender and Adult Literacy for Social Transformation (GALACST) which is going to be held on March 25-26, 2022, via zoom online. This year's conference theme is Bolstering intergenerational learning toward inclusive, innovative, and sustainable communities amidst the COVID-19 pandemic.

The said conference is in partnership with different local and international institutions and organizations like Transformare: A Network of Adult Literacy and Lifelong Learning Advocates, UNESCO Chair in Adult Literacy and Learning for Social Transformation, University of East Anglia (Norwich, UK), UK Research and Innovation, and the Global Challenges Research Fund (GCRF).

The conference provides a space for discussions and debates on adult literacy, numeracy, indigenous knowledge systems, gender, and active citizenship with particular focus on intergenerational learning and digital literacy. The conference
