THRU: MS. AUGIE PERL SIMANGAN

Dear Dr. Faculo:

Greetings!

Sustainable food systems are at the forefront of efforts to address pressing global challenges, including food security, environmental degradation, climate change, and public health. Urban areas are centers of the fastest and largest transformation in population, consumption, resource use and waste which accounts for over 70% of the world's greenhouse gas emission. Most of the food consumption happening in urban areas, the political dynamics and active community participation combined with the urgency of the food security issues that need to be addressed, the possibilities of food systems transformation are low hanging fruits for the City of Baguio.

Understanding that equipping the youth and the Local Government units of Baguio with proper knowledge about food systems and its emissions will aid and support the City Officials make well-versed innovative and sustainable decisions and enact policies that aim to provide equal access to healthy food while ensuring environmental sustainability.

In this light, we invite 5 (five) focal teachers for food security and system, to join us for a one-day workshop entitled "Youth on Food Systems", organized by the City Planning, Development, and Sustainability Office in collaboration with the Worldwide Fund for Nature – Philippines. The workshop is scheduled for October 21, 2023 (Saturday) from 8:00AM-5:00PM at Travelite Hotel Legarda, Legarda Road, Baguio City, Benguet.

This initiative is a collaborative effort with the Safe and Sound Cities (S²Cities) program, led by the Global Infrastructure Basel Foundation (GIB) in partnership with ICLEI. It is hosted by the Swiss Philanthropy Foundation and receives support from the Fondation Botnar.

Attached is the program of activities for the workshop. Interested participants are required to register through this link: bit.ly/YSF1021 and should you have questions and/or require confirmation please contact Mr. Kurt Allen F. Panigbatan at 0999-884-2661.

Thank you!
