Dear Dr. Faculo;

Greetings!

We are the UP Broadcasting Association (UP Broad Ass), a non-profit student organization and creatives house based in the UP Diliman College of Mass Communication. We create relevant productions, campaigns, and events that aim to inspire and invite the youth to social action.

In celebration of our 55th anniversary, we are launching A Projected Vision (APV): Stories in Color - Climate on Screen, a competition for high school and college students, along with campus-based video creators, to showcase their creativity and awareness of contemporary Filipino social issues through short-form vertical video content. The event will run from April 26, 2024, to its culmination on May 23, 2024.

We humbly invite high school students from your division to join APV 2024 because UP Broad Ass believes in their great potential to excel in this endeavor. This competition provides a substantial platform allowing students to rigorously discuss climate change, one of the most prominent environmental issues in the Philippines, through storytelling and video production. The event mechanics, registration rules, and additional information are attached to this letter for your reference.

The beneficiaries of this event are students and youth-led environmental organizations. By participating in APV 2024, student voices are amplified, contributing significantly to the climate change movement.

Should you have any questions, concerns, or clarifications, please do not hesitate to contact us through the undersigned at our email, upbroadassweek55@gmail.com.

We look forward to working with you in this venture. Thank you!

Registration Process:

- Interested participants are required to complete the registration form available at <https://bit.ly/APV2024Registration>
- The deadline for registration and submission of requirements is 11:59 PM on April 26, 2024.

Requirements for registration include:

- Scanned copy of school or any valid ID of all participants.
- Scanned copy of any proof of enrollment (Certificate of Registration, a screenshot of class schedule from the student portal, etc.).
- Proof of registration fee payment (Php 500.00 per entry) to be paid to the account (0928) 281 3795 under Jaime B. Bautista.

Composition of Entries:

- Each entry must be created by a minimum of one (1) up to a maximum of five (5) student creators.
- Entries should incorporate the specified feature, placing a central emphasis on seamlessly integrating the concept of PERSONAL EXPERIENCE OF CLIMATE CHANGE or the problem within their community into the main story, dialogue, interactions, or visual elements. This integration should resonate throughout the narrative, enriching the viewer's understanding and emotional connection to the subject matter.

- Entries are encouraged to utilize a diverse range of devices, not solely restricted to mobile platforms.
- Entries must comprise the following components:
 - A vertical short-form video with a runtime between 3 to 5 minutes.
 - A 30-second teaser from the short-form video.
 - English .srt file for subtitles.
- Entries must adhere to a vertical aspect ratio of 9:16 and at least 1080 pixels resolution in MP4 format.
- Please rename the file in APV 2024_ < Name of the School >.

Submission Deadline:

- Participants must submit their entries on or before May 11, 2024, through the provided email address upbroadassweek55@gmail.com with the subject "A Projected Vision 2024 : Mobile Journalism Competition "

Selection and Announcement:

- On May 17, 2024, the Selection Committee will officially reveal the top 10 entries proceeding to the final stage of judging.
- Results will be communicated via respective emails provided by participants.
- Participants who did not make it to the top 10 entries will receive a digital certificate of participation.

Culmination Event:

- The final 10 entries will be screened during A Projected Vision 2024 culmination event on May 24, 2024, at UP Film Institute Film Studio.

- The final 10 participants will engage in an educational discussion about environmental issues with renowned speakers provided by the event organizers.
- The organizer will also host a workshop on Mobile Journalism, featuring renowned speakers provided by the event organizers. This workshop is open to all participants, offering a valuable opportunity to delve into the dynamic realm of mobile journalism techniques and practices.
- 30-second teasers for each entry will be posted on UP Broadcasting Association's Facebook page for promotional purposes.
- The final selection of the winners will be made from a pool of 10 entries. The champion will be awarded a consolation prize valued at 8,000, the 1st runner-up will receive 4,000, and the 2nd runner-up will receive 2,000.
